

aquatic energy

If only the city had placed turbines
in the community pool
this evening,

our lights, dishwashers, and industrial manufacturing would have run, free,

provided by the pool-churning playfulness of five
thirteen-year-old girls

on their last day

of seventh grade.

aquatic energy
Stephen Muratore
© 2010